Evolution of the concept of environmental security and security in the 21st century

Alizade E.*
Assistant Prof. I.A.U, Rasht branch, Dep. of Geography, Rasht, Iran

Pishgahi far Z.
Associate Prof. I.A.U, Research & Science Branch, Dep.of Geography, Tehran, Iran

Received: 14/12/2010 Accepted: 14/6/2011

Extended Abstract

Introduction
Environmental degradation and social conflicts due to concerns about climate change to contemporary discussions on global security, militarism and domination of the Earth is about Brkrh added.

Research Methodology
This method of analysis - descriptive and using library resources and review of relevant literature is written.

Results
National Security:
Have different definitions for national security. Some authors have used military threats to security means. Some measures to protect the country against attack or reversal are stressed out. One of the definitions for this concept, it has the classic definition. According to this definition, security is the ability to ward off external threats against the country's political life or national interests. The military aspect of security has been emphasized in this definition. Government efforts to increase the focus on military power and military means are used.

*Responsible Author: Biopolitic2000@yahoo.com
Environmental Security:
Environmental degradation on people's safety and security of government influence, coalition, coalition governments and people - at least in matters relating to the environment are two different things. The concept of environmental protection against environmental threats will be discussed.

Changing views on globalization and security:
Globalization, global convergence is an ongoing process that includes 1. Economic integration through trade, investment and capital flows; 2. Political integration; 3. Information technology and information, and 4. the convergence of the cultural environment fit in this category, is.

Environmental Security in the Era of Globalization:
As mentioned, in the traditional sense, national security during the Cold War appeared to secure a successful prosecution of the competition for power between the government was looking at.

Conclusion
The political boundaries of today's environmental crisis can not be prevented from entering and invading the territory of one country to another. Environmental security is merely a geographical region and with the cooperation of all countries in the world with larger dimensions will be, regional and global thinking.

Key words: national security - environmental security - between the system.

References
Surf and download all data from SID.ir: www.SID.ir

Translate via STRS.ir: www.STRS.ir

Follow our scientific posts via our Blog: www.sid.ir/blog

Use our educational service (Courses, Workshops, Videos and etc.) via Workshop: www.sid.ir/workshop